

Community and Character

Manor Farm is proud to be the first large-scale development in Kent to deliver exclusively A-rated energy homes, setting a new benchmark for sustainable living. At the heart of a thriving new community in Frindsbury, Strood, the development brings together the Maritime Academy secondary school and sixth form, heritage buildings, public open spaces, natural habitats and thoughtfully designed new homes. Enhancing the landscape even further, Manor Farm will also see the planting of 475 new trees and the creation of eight new park areas, providing beautiful green spaces for residents and wildlife to enjoy for generations to come.

The ambition is to deliver a modern take on timeless village living, with multiple enclaves that each have a distinct sense of identity. Manor Farm itself is a phased collection of 2, 3, 4 and 5-bedroom homes – a place where families can put down roots. Aesthetic inspiration has been drawn from the Medway's naval heritage, from Kent's beautiful countryside and from the local area's defining architecture.

This eye for design and traditional craftsmanship will be combined with practicalities. A new public footpath will weave its way through Manor Farm, creating a safe and quick walking route to Strood train station, while immediate access to bus routes will facilitate easy travel.

Considered landscaping, including eight new park areas, natural play areas, tree-lined streets and orchard-inspired planting, will offset the built environment. In addition, more than 500 new trees will be planted, enhancing biodiversity and creating a greener environment for residents. Layouts will also work with the development's natural topography and orientation to create appealing vistas and attractive street scenes.

The Perfect Balance

Manor Farm is a dynamic place to live, linking to the existing community but with its own sense of place. Here countryside access, community spirit and stand-out connections combine. Surround yourself with parks, nature reserves and the North Downs National Landscape while being able to walk into town centres and access public transport.

Friendly and family orientated, Frindsbury itself is a self-sustaining village with schools, convenience stores, restaurants, a butcher, a pub and a chemist all within a short walk of Manor Farm. Focal points come in many guises. All Saints parish hall has a packed programme of classes, from yoga and rock choir to baby groups and bridge, while a number of swim clubs use Hilltop Primary School for its large, heated indoor pool. There's also a tennis and padel club, a cricket club, and a well-loved park with play equipment and fantastic views across the River Medway.

Town and Country

Frindsbury is adjacent to busy town life but also borders some of Kent's most captivating countryside. The Saxon Shore Way runs through the parish and out to areas of outstanding natural beauty, while the King Charles III England Coast Path passes the southern tip of Manor Farm, drawing walkers to the River Medway in as little as six minutes. Stop to admire the view before following this accessible path into Strood and across the bridge to Rochester, taking around 30 minutes.

These two towns offer a concentration of retail, leisure and cultural options, as well as thriving night time economies. Find a bowling alley, a cinema and restaurants at Strood's Medway Valley Park, while Strood Retail Park is a one-stop shopping destination. Rochester is where history comes alive. In the shadow of the Cathedral and the Castle are cobbled streets, crooked timber-framed houses, curious shops and a celebration of all things Dickens. In December, Rochester is home to one of the south's premium Christmas markets.

Town vibes are offset by wild expanses and places to walk. Explore the 560 acres of Ranscombe Farm Nature Reserve or spot native species at Rede Common Nature Reserve. The North Downs National Landscape is just three miles from Manor Farm for bigger adventures. From here join The North Downs Way - a 153-mile National Trail that winds its way through stunning scenery.

In addition to Strood and Rochester, residents are perfectly placed to enjoy the vibrant Dockside area at Chatham Maritime. Just a short distance away, Dockside offers a fantastic mix of waterside restaurants, bars, a cinema, gym facilities and a popular shopping outlet, making it an ideal destination for leisure and socialising.

For a more extensive retail experience, Bluewater Shopping Centre is just a 15-20 minute drive from Manor Farm. One of the UK's premier shopping destinations, it offers an impressive range of high-street and designer brands, dining options and entertainment, all set within a striking lakeside environment.

Education at its Best

Kent's renowned reputation for educational excellence is upheld in Frindsbury, with an extensive choice of local primary, secondary, specialist and independent schools. There are four primaries within walking distance of Manor Farm, giving families the ability to choose the right fit for their children. Although Maritime Academy is on site, the development also sits advantageously for the Medway's grammar and faith schools.

Maritime Academy also features a modern gym facility that is available to both students and the wider public, adding to the development's strong community focus.

Work and Play

Described as a stepping stone between the Kentish countryside and the urban town of Strood, Frindsbury offers something quite unique - genuine connectivity that doesn't require a car. The village's facilities are predominantly clustered together, making it easy to shop, eat out and socialise within a mile or less of Manor Farm.

The wider area offers an abundance of leisure opportunities, from waterside dining and scenic riverside walks in charming Upnor to reformer classes at Peaches Pilates Studio and family days out at Monkey Bizz soft play.

When travel further afield is required, perhaps for work, journeys are made easy. The local road network supports travel to the Medway's business parks, including The Innovation Centre, Innovation Park Medway, Innovation Studios Medway and the forthcoming Docking Station. Commuting further afield? The A2/M2, the M20 and the M25 are close by.
